

Camo Pants: 'A Place-for-Everything'

Surely a hunter deserves credit for the old saying: "A place for everything and everything in its place." Hunters, after all, need lots of pockets for multiple accessories like hand warmers, turkey calls, GPS, brush clippers and more.

Now, for hunters everywhere, Wrangler ProGear-Wrangler ProGear has created a garment with pockets galore so hunters have a place for everything. The Wrangler® ProGear™ 9-Pocket Hunter Pant has four deep-scoop pockets front and back, a traditional "watch" pocket, and four easy-access side pockets.

These cutting-edge camo pants are available in Realtree Hardwoods Grey HD or the acclaimed Advantage MAX-1 HD which performs well in any open setting including sage-covered hillsides, mesquite flats, wide-open prairies, deserts, rocky terrain and croplands. Both camo patterns also are available in the Camo Flannel Field Shirt, a new lightweight Camo Twill Shirt, Camo Jean, Upland Jean, and Long and Short Sleeved Camo Tees.

Wrangler ProGear has also announced a hooded Shooter Jacket with padded blaze-orange recoil panels on the left and right shoulders.

Wrangler ProGear garments are sold through specialty retailers such as Dick's Sporting Goods and Cabela's. Hunters can find more information at www.wrangler.com or by phoning (888) 784-8571.

For Wrangler's media testing policy, contact Bill AuCoin, (727) 522-2371, wmaucoin@verizon.net.